

SEATBELTS

Protect yourself and your unborn child. Expectant mothers should wear lap/shoulder belts with the lap belt fastened below the baby and the shoulder belt fastened above the baby.

Toddler (20-40 lbs and over 12 months) should ride in the backseat in a front-facing safety seat.

Infant (up to 20 lbs and 12 months) should ride in the backseat in rear-facing safety seat.

Child (40-80 lbs) should ride in a booster seat secured by a lap/shoulder belt.
